

Synthetic Auto Receivables Trust 2099-1

Prospectus. All names and figures are fictitious.

SUMMARY OF TERMS

This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them.

Notes

Class	Original Balance	Interest Rate	Final Payment Date
A-1	$250,000,000	4.50%	June 2100
A-2	$300,000,000	4.75%	June 2102
B	$50,000,000	5.10%	June 2104

This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them.

DESCRIPTION OF THE NOTES

This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them.

Priority of Payments

On each payment date, the servicer will direct the indenture trustee to use available funds to make payments in the order of priority listed below:

- (1) to the indenture trustee and the owner trustee, all amounts due, up to a maximum of $250,000 per year,
- (2) to the servicer, all unpaid servicing fees,
- (3) to the Class A noteholders, interest due on the Class A notes, pro rata,
- (4) to the Class A noteholders, principal in an amount equal to the first priority principal payment, if any,
- (5) to the Class B noteholders, interest due on the Class B notes,

- (6) to the reserve account, the amount required to replenish it to its target balance,
- (7) to the noteholders, sequentially by class, principal in an amount equal to the regular principal payment,
- (8) to the holder of the residual interest, all remaining available funds.

If available funds are insufficient to cover items (1) through (5), the shortfall will be withdrawn from the reserve account.

Events of Default

This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them. This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them.

DISTRIBUTIONS ON THE CERTIFICATES

On each distribution date, available funds will be distributed in the following order of priority: First, to the Class A-1 and Class A-2 certificates, pro rata, interest distributable; Second, to the Class A-1 certificates, principal until reduced to zero; Third, to the Class A-2 certificates, principal until reduced to zero; Fourth, to the Class B certificates, interest distributable; Fifth, to the Class B certificates, principal until reduced to zero.

This paragraph is synthetic filler describing the transaction in general terms. It contains no deal data and exists only to give the page realistic density so that list items fall where a real prospectus would place them.